

Watch out for heavy vehicles

Wait behind the bus/truck, but be aware the driver won't see you if reversing.

If you must pass, pass on the right, but beware of the blind zone.

Wait in front of the bus/truck where you can be seen by the driver.

Never pass buses or trucks on the left, even when stopped.

Trucks and buses have blind spots where the driver can't see you, and they may need to swing wide or cut the corner when turning.

- Ride to be seen and be predictable – don't swerve in and out of gaps.
- Stay back if a truck or bus is turning, or may be about to turn.
- Stop where the driver can see you.
- In a queue, wait behind trucks and buses – it's safer than trying to pass.
- If in doubt, stay back and stay safe.
- Choose safe routes.

Visit www.sharetheroad.org.nz or www.pedalready.org.nz for more info.